

Flow365: Citizen Science River & Creek Monitoring Training

9:00 a.m. – Noon

Saturday, April 15, 2017

WMG's Living Lab and Learning Center, 1137 N Dodge Blvd, Tucson

Join WMG for a fun and informative introduction to our Flow 365 Monitoring Program. We are enlisting landowners and the interested public to join us and become Citizen Scientists on the ground to help monitor flow in our creeks and rivers, groundwater levels in accessible wells, and the plants and animals that depend on them.

WMG staff will introduce you to our 50-year vision of flowing creeks and rivers supported by our growing River Run Network, and explain how your involvement can help us, the City, and the County in protecting and restoring flows across the basin. You will learn how to monitor and have the opportunity to select location(s) along our rivers and which factor(s) you wish to monitor.

For more information or to RSVP please contact Aaron Baumann at 520-396-3266 x21 or abaumann@watershedmg.org